About the Keynote Speaker:

Veit Hornung (b. 1976) is Professor of Innate Immunity at Gene Center Munich, Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität, Munich, Germany. Veit's research group works on Inflammasomes, Nucleic Acid Sensors, and Genome Engineering, with the aim to understand what mechanisms are employed by the innate immune system to distinguish self from non-self or harmless from dangerous, respectively. He has published 184 articles, including 9 Nature and 3 Cell papers. His work has been cited over 27,000 times, and he has an H-factor of 63.

We thank our Sponsors!

Additional information:

The annual general assembly (generalforsamlingen) will be held during the main break (separate announcement with agenda will follow). All members of the society are encouraged to participate.

As a social get-together event, the Society will host a complimentary dinner after the meeting. If you are not a member the price will be DKK 150. To become a member and enjoy the dinner for free, please follow this link: <https://immunologisk-selskab.dk/join-the-society/>

The meeting will consist of both posters and selected short oral presentations of 15 min each, including questions. Members are asked to encourage younger scientists to present their results at the meeting.

As last year, The BioNordika prize for best poster presentation (DKK 4000) and The Miltenyi Biotec prize for best oral presentation (DKK 5000) will be awarded!

Danish Immunology Society

Annual Meeting, May 25th, 2022

We will award 7 “AH diagnostics Travel Grants” each worth DKK 500 to students who are members of the Society and present their work at the meeting. Please indicate interest on the registration form.

Please fill in the registration form – separate file - and return it by e-mail as an attachment, together with your abstract to Søren E. Degn: sdegn@biomed.au.dk

You will be notified regarding selection for oral or poster presentation upon evaluation of the abstracts. Presentations should be made as PowerPoint shows. You can e-mail your presentation or bring on a USB stick. Poster boards are 185 cm height x 83 cm width.

On behalf of the Society,

Professor Rune Hartmann, President of DIS
